Photography by Ellen Schoenmaker

Ellen Schoenmaker is a product of the Midwest, with several generations of family from Nebraska and Iowa. She grew up in Lincoln, Nebraska, and graduated from Grinnell College in December of 2016 with a degree in Spanish. While in college she took photos for the student newspaper, and participated in the Swim & Dive and Cross Country team. She took a semester off to work on a family farm in rural Costa Rica, where she learned about biodynamic permaculture and practiced Spanish. When she's not in the Midwest she can be found traveling abroad taking photos for her photography blog (<http://www.eschoenmakerphotography.com/blog>) or participating in volunteer work exchanges. She is currently teaching English in Santiago, Chile.
